

Tim O'Brien

Tim O'Brien has been the Human Resources Manager for H.D. Vest Financial Services® since 1995. In his core role he manages a team of HR professionals who provide coaching and consulting services regarding compensation, development, employee relations, diversity and recognition, information and reporting, talent management, retention, talent acquisition, and staffing support.

In addition, Tim partners with Wells Fargo Wealth Management Group ("WMG") HR consultants and Wells Fargo Corporate HR to manage integration efforts for acquisitions within the WMG. He also teams up with the WMG Leadership Development Team providing one-on-one management coaching.

Before coming to H.D. Vest, Tim was an HR Manager for a major airplane and defense systems company, and for a regional retail sales organization. Prior to entering the HR field, he was a member of the faculty at Louisiana State University. Tim earned his master degree from Louisiana State University and a bachelor degree from the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater.

Tim and his wife Debby live in the Dallas, Texas area. They've been married for 37 years and have four children and seven grandchildren. They enjoy every opportunity they have to spend time with their growing family.
