

Vicki J. Nordskog

Vicki Nordskog is the executive manager of the Solutions Management team. Her team is responsible for technology platform strategy development as well as the business design and implementation of the underlying tools. In these efforts, she and her team partner heavily with the technology development team to build and provide ongoing enhancement of new technology solutions. Vicki's other responsibilities include identifying opportunities for H.D. Vest Financial Services® to leverage the power of Wells Fargo to further enhance technology and product solutions for H.D. Vest Advisors, Advisors' clients, and internal operating efficiency.

Vicki joined H.D. Vest in May 2003 in her current capacity. Before coming to H.D. Vest, she held numerous positions within Wells Fargo Bank including Chief Technology Office for the Private Client Services Division. From 1987 to 1997, Vicki was a Vice President at Shearson/ Lehman Brothers in New York City. While working for Shearson, she was responsible for multiple technology development teams, and also managed a department which established service agreements and metrics for ensuring the Information Technology Division met the needs of its end clients. As a member of the Lehman Brothers Technology and Operations team, Vicki was the client relationship manager to the Financial Services Division. Her responsibilities included ensuring financial consultants had the necessary technology solutions and operations support. In her roles at Shearson/Lehman Brothers, Vicki built upon the previous experience she gained working for a software consulting firm in the Twin Cities, developing trading and order management systems for various Wall Street broker dealers.

Vicki obtained a Bachelor of Science degree from Iowa State University, and is a general securities representative. A resident of Oakland, California, Vicki is an avid gardener, a member of the City of Oakland emergency response team, and actively involved in community beautification.
